STONE RAMBLERS

PHOTOGRAPHS PLACED ON STONE RAMBLERS WEBSITE AND/OR STONE RAMBLERS FACEBOOK PAGE

We often take photographs on our walks and holidays and would like to share these photos on our website and on Facebook.

We will always seek permission from the photographer to publish their photos but since the events are public, we are not required to seek the permission of everyone featured in the photo.

We will never publish the full name of the subjects in our photos although we may use forenames.

During the welcome address by the walk leader, we should check if any individual is unhappy having their photo on the website or Facebook. Sometime photos include people who weren't aware and aren't easily identifiable, for example, a group walking in the distance, but please check before the start of the walk with anyone that they consent to being photographed.

If you are the photographer

If taking staged photos of a group where you gather a group of people together to take a photo, for example, after completing a path maintenance activity or at the top of a hill during a group walk, please inform the group that they are about to be photographed, allowing them to join the group or not.

If taking photos of one or two people where the individuals are the main focus of the photo and identifiable, please check that they are happy to have the photo published.
